Corporate Training

Gold Coast Institute of TAFE offers a dedicated team to assist industry and employers access effective training solutions for their organisations. Our dedicated staff work with businesses and their people to identify areas of potential growth and develop training solutions to ensure the organisation has the expertise required to move forward in today's fast paced environment. Full training solutions can be provided, or a more specific tailored solution may be developed. Our staff are dedicated to helping organisations meet their strategic needs and developing the potential to vastly improve business performance.

Apprenticeships and Traineeships

Gold Coast Institute of TAFE offers traineeship and apprenticeship training in a range of areas including business, retail, hospitality, community services, automotive and construction. Trainees and apprentices receive quality training and teaching from staff that are industry qualified, professional, experienced and give expert instruction. On completion, the trainee or apprentice will be a qualified, skilled employee contributing towards increased productivity, and will have a national standard qualification that is recognised by industry.

To find out more about employing an apprentice or trainee, please contact an Australian Apprenticeship Centre.

Government Incentives

When developing a specific training solution for our industry and employer partners, Gold Coast Institute of TAFE will work with each organisation to identify the government incentives they may be eligible for when addressing their training solutions and requirements.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) can be used to fast track to a qualification. RPL combines any previous formal studies with life and work experiences to provide a picture of current skills and identify any required skills needed to achieve a formal qualification.

Prospective students will meet with our Institute RPL coordinator who will assess each application, identify any gap training needed to complete a qualification and then tailor a training program as required. Employers may be able to access RPL for their staff and then seek gap training for any areas of expertise that may be required.

Upskilling

Gold Coast Institute of TAFE has developed an upskilling program specifically for trade industries, where staff can be assessed against current skill competencies and then be provided gap training to achieve a trade level outcome for those who have worked in industry extensively but who have not achieved certification.

One-day workshops

Gold Coast Institute of TAFE has created a series of one-day, practical workshops designed to develop skills and knowledge in a hands on, condensed learning format. Targeted toward business owners, managers, operational staff and anyone wishing to further their business career, our workshops provide you with the opportunity to learn directly from industry professionals.

Each program is succinctly developed and designed to provide participants with updated skills and knowledge to implement in the workplace.

Our one-day workshops will boost skills, knowledge, networking base and business bottom line, and are offered in the areas of strategic and operational planning, financial management, customer service, leadership, communication and time management.
